Research Assistant (m/f/d, 50%).

This part-time position is available for a fixed term until December 31, 2025 under the terms and pay scale of "TV-L 13".

Tasks and Project Description

Research and editorial work in the long-term project "Reger-Werkausgabe (RWA)" funded by the Academy of Sciences and Literature Mainz. RWA is publishing hybrid editions: in addition to the printed music volume, there is a substantial digital apparatus in which the available source materials (manuscripts, first prints, letters and further explanatory documents) are made available and scientifically processed.

Your Profile

You have a degree in musicology (at least Magister/Magistra or Master) or a comparable scientific qualification as well as experience in the field of scholarly music editing. A research focus on 19th/20th century music history as well as experience in working with common music notation applications is desirable. Furthermore, you are open to familiarise yourself with digital edition tools (Edirom, Oxygen) and data standards (XML, TEI/MEI) in a highly digital and German speaking workplace setting.

You are able to cope with time critical project milestones and to work independently as well as a member of our project team.

Application

Please send your application as PDF via e-mail to Dr. Alexander Becker (becker@max-reger-institut.de) until April 15, 2021.

The Akademie der Wissenschaften und der Literatur Mainz aims to increase the proportion of female employees in pay group 13 TV-L and therefore invites suitably qualified women to apply. Severely disabled persons will be given preference in case of equal suitability.

With your application, you give us your consent to process your personal data until the application procedure is completed.

Application and interview costs are not reimbursable according to the regulations applicable to us. It should be noted that with respect to the current epidemiological situation, the personal interview can be held virtually.
